

AdriaArray – coverage,  $R = 40$  km

The map shows the Adriatic region, including the coastline of Italy, the Balkans, and the surrounding seas. The map is overlaid with a grid of latitude and longitude lines. A legend on the right side of the map indicates the color coding for the stations, with colors ranging from red to blue. The stations are represented by colored circles of varying sizes, indicating their coverage area. The map shows a dense network of stations, particularly in the central and eastern parts of the Adriatic region.
